Our New Pet Hospital

Lindee Lu has recently designed a stand-alone, fully lined and insulated holding room for animals recovering from surgery. The beauty of this building is that it measures only 10ft square and can be installed in a back garden or in the back yard of your surgery without the need for any planning permission.

We are finding this is increasingly popular with veterinary nurses who enjoy having the responsibility of caring for sick animals in their homes, without having to find the space to keep cages, feeding bowls and litter etc.

We manufacture all our hospitals to order and can make them to any size, the most popular being 10ft x 10ft, fully lined and insulated. Inside are two 5ft pens, three 3ft pens all with individual heaters and a 3ft square cage separated from the other pens by a sneeze barrier. A useful workstation with a storage shelf underneath measures 5ft long and 2ft deep has a double electric socket above; Two more double electric sockets at ground level and a strip light in the centre of the ceiling provides ample light and electric throughout. To the front of the building, we build a window each side of the vented central door and for extra safety, we fit a lockable interior mesh door which provides extra ventilation during the hot summer months without allowing unwanted visitors in – or escapees out!

Constructed from the finest quality solid Scandinavian Redwood, these buildings are visually appealing, simple to maintain and very long lasting.

Cost to Manufacture and install:                    £5252.00 + vat*
